

Enclosure, Fred Charles

Oct 1914

October 1st, 1914

TO WHOM IT MAY CONCERN:

Fred Charles Andrews, B.A. Sc., of the University of Toronto, is very anxious to enter upon active service in the present war. He has been too late to secure a place in the Canadian Contingent, that is now leaving, but is at his own expense sailing for England in order if possible to serve his country at the front. Mr. Andrews is highly recommended to me by the Head of the Department of Mining Engineering as a fine upstanding specimen of a man, of good birth and a good record. I feel confident that he will do credit to the University and to his country if he is given an opportunity to show his valour.

President.
